

My name is Elizabeth Jamison and I am the new librarian for Turnpike and Rensselaer Park Elementary Schools. My mission is to match great books with elementary students. I am a previous Kindergarten and First Grade Classroom Teacher, Instructional Support Teacher for Kindergarten through Grade 5, and Literacy Specialist serving Pre-Kindergarten through Grade 5. These teaching experiences have given me lots of hands-on practice matching books and readers.

My graduate level training was completed at Columbia University Teachers College and I enjoy visiting New York City yearly to meet award-winning Children's Authors and Illustrators that inspire young readers to build reading skills, vocabulary, and life lessons through great literature.

Please contact me at ejamison@lansingburgh.org with any questions you may have about our book collections or your child's library account.

Thank you in advance for helping our young students learn the value of books by caring for them while they are in your possession. Returning library books on their due date assists students in becoming responsible citizens of their school community. When library books are returned, other students in the community will be able to enjoy them as well.

Happy Reading!
